Tubbs Jones Joins Fight to Stop Global Warming

Cleveland, OH – Today, Congresswoman Stephanie Tubbs Jones released this statement in support of the National Day of Climate Action. This event is just one of hundreds being held in all 50 states tomorrow.

"I recognize the importance of protecting our environment by transitioning from traditional energy sources, such as coal and petroleum, to clean sources, such as bio-fuel, wind, and solar energy. I am a strong supporter of putting more resources into creating alternative energy sources. When we invest in these alternative energy sources it also benefits our increasingly fragile environment.

"Additionally, the new energy sources will create much needed green jobs. According to the Union of Concerned Scientists, Ohio stands to gain approximately 7,360 new jobs from renewable energy development. These jobs will be beneficial to both our economy and our environment.
